At the beginning of the letter he apologizes Suresh for not being able to meet him during his visit to Hyderabad. He writes about his daily activities and where he and his wife works. He has also written how they leave their child at a baby care centre and leaves for work and then returns home with faded faces. He finds his life disgusting as he finds no time to sit together and talk. He mentioned that due to their extremely busy schedule they have all forgotten their family. He mentioned many things in the letter expressing how they have spent their beautiful childhood days playing gilli-danda and kabaddi. He reminisced all their spent good memories during the festivals. At the last, he with a heavy heart mentioned how badly he missed the joy of the family and told Suresh that he doesn't know where those gardens have gone, those fairy tales etc. He told at the last that he was happy to find time to write Suresh and invited him to his place and proposed to remember their childhood days.
