

The Garden Within

Introduction:

About the poet: Celia Berell is an England-born Australian writer and poet. She is best known for her series of Science Rhymes, which have been published by CSIRO and in textbooks for Australian, Irish and Canadian high school students.

About the poem: The poem “The Garden Within” is a heart warming poem where the human heart is considered to be beautiful place. The human heart is compared to a beautiful garden. The poet says, our heart is such a beautiful place where flower blooms all of a sudden and enriches us. Here, flower is said to the beautiful human thoughts.
