

Introduction:

Soil is an important natural resource. Plants need soil to grow. Microscopic organisms such as bacteria, fungi, microscopic algae and protozoa live in the soil. Soil beetles, soil mites, earthworms, nematodes, millipedes, centipedes, ants and termites also live in the soil.

