Introduction:

About the author: Rudyard Kipling was an English journalist, short story writer, poet and novelist. His full name is Joseph Rudyard Kipling. He was born on 30 December 1865 and died on 18 January 1936 at the age of seventy years. He was born to Alice Kipling and John Lockwood Kipling. He was born in India, which inspired much of his work. Kipling's works of fiction include "The Jungle Book", "Kim" and many short stories, including "The Man Who Would Be King". His poems include "Mandalay", "Gunga Din", "The Gods of the Copybook Headings", and many more. He is seen as an innovator in the art of the short story. His children's books are classics. Kipling in the late 19th and early 20th centuries was among the United Kingdom's most popular writers.

About the text: The lesson "How The Camel Got His Hump" is about the beginning days of the world. And, how work had been distributed between the animals for humans. This lesson also would tell us how the camel didn't work a bit and later on it was punished with a huge lump on it's back which is later called "hump".
